

DaimlerChrysler AG

Abstract

The invention relates to a sun visor (1) for motor vehicles, comprising a hollow visor body (10). According to the invention, the sun visor (1) has a slotlike receiving opening (3) and a receiving area (31) arranged in the cavity of the visor body, this receiving area (31) forming a receiving element for holding a flat object (2), such as, for example, parking tickets or fuel cards.

(Figure 4)